

gotweda

THE CLASSIC COUNTRY CELEBRATION

Charlotte and Ross Pope

Ross proposed on Christmas morning 2005 by hiding an engagement ring in Charlotte's cracker complete with a little scroll that read 'Will you marry me?'

After booking Scorrier House for their reception, the couple decided on a country theme which ran through the flowers, butterfly decorations, accessories and the favours: laurel leaves tied to little mint parcels. Charlotte rejected a veil and tiara in favour of a natural hairstyle and flower hair slide made from the choker that came with her dress.

Like many couples that married this summer, they woke to rain on 5th July but refused to let it ruin their day – and at least the ivory umbrellas they hired were put to good use.

Having spent much time in Gwithian at the start of their relationship, Gwithian Church proved the perfect setting for the couple to marry. After an emotional ceremony, the newlyweds traveled to Scorrier House in an ivory Daimler and enjoyed a bottle of champagne together as Mr and Mrs.

The romance of Scorrier was enhanced further by tulle drapes adorning the staircase and chair backs and lots of fairy lights. The guests enjoyed a delectable feast courtesy of Jane Meredith Catering Company, which was followed by the speeches, including a very special one from the bride.

The evening reception saw further guests arrive and the party spilled out into the conservatory and gardens; the revellers danced the night away – a particular highlight was a '90s hour, which well and truly filled the dance floor.

Charlotte comments, "We had such an amazing day and made sure that we took ourselves off to be alone together at regular intervals during the celebrations."

The venue

Gwithian Church followed by Scorrier House
01209 820264 www.scorrierhouse.co.uk

The dress

Ian Stuart
Fantasia Bridal, Lostwithiel
01208 872202 www.fantasia-bridal.com

The flowers

Bloomsberry Flowers
01326 569191 www.bloomsberryflowers.co.uk

Photography

David Willcocks Photography
01209 861044 www.davidwillcocks.co.uk

